"Just Push Play"

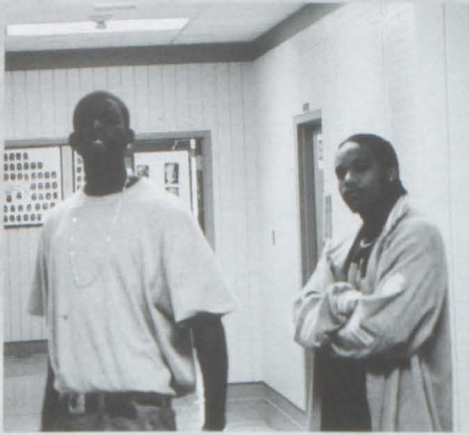

Montala proudly presents their first ever Montala Records' production: "Just Push Play." Throughout this music filled book there are different artists, songwriters, managers, recording agents, producers, and music genres. We have taken our time to create a book everyone will enjoy. This year we have added more pictures and tried to express ourselves more freely. So please sit back, relax, and enjoy as Montala proudly entertains you.

"It's My Life"

"Express Yourself"

At the beginning of last year, students at Montevallo were met with some new rules. Montala wanted to know how some of you felt about these rules. We asked two students the same question. We asked a female and a male, so we would be fair and not get a biased answer. This is what you had to say:

"I think tucking shirts in was a good way to go about things. It keeps the guys from showing their underwear and looks better on our school to have students dressed neat. This rule makes students look nice and not slouchy."
-Michelle Duplechain

Question:

What are your personal feelings about being forced to tuck in shirts?

"I think the tucking shirts rule is not right. Girls do not have to tuck in their shirts. Most of the kids don't even tuck them in as it is. I think the way someone dresses has nothing to do with respect. It should be abolished along with the belt rule."
-Brent Hood

"Being able to wear thong sandals doesn't bother me because I don't have to wear them. So I don't agree or disagree."

-Patrick Gilmore

Question:

What are your feelings about female students wearing thong sandals?

"I feel that we should be able to wear thong sandals because we're almost adults and were old enough to pick out our clothes, why not be able to pick out shoes to match thong sandals or not."

-Natalie DuBose

"Jump Around"

During this past school year, the high school was filled with spirit.

Students attended pep rallies, football games, basketball games, and other athletic events.

During pep rallies orange, blue, and even pink could be seen throughout the gym. Pink was a very popular color for a school theme of "Pink the Panthers".

Dress-up days, the penny count, and the canned food drive were a few of the activities that took place during "Homecoming Week". At the end of Homecoming, it was announced that the Seniors had pulled off an '03 victory.

Senior students prepare to scream at a pep rally during the class cheer. The seniors won every class cheer this past year when it came to spirit.

Senior Ben Simmons charms a snake during the Theme dress-up day. This great idea helped the seniors win the dress-up day.

Sophomore Roderick Farrington acts in character for dress up day. Many of his classmates dressed up.

Sophomore students tell the Hayden Wildcats to R.I.P. This class had a lot of students dress up to show school spirit.

Seniors Katie Gothard and Dessilyn Chappell are all smiles for the camera. They were so excited that their class had won Theme day.

"Fiesta"

Homecoming has always been students' favorite time of the year, and last year was no different. Homecoming week consisted of the canned food drive, penny count, and several dress up days. The week culminated with the Bulldogs' victory over the Hayden Wildcats and the Homecoming Dance. The Seniors won last year's competition with the Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen taking second, third, and fourth place respectively.

"Saturday"

SPEND money. RIDE around town.
STAY out late. HANG out with friends.
GRAB a bite to eat. PLAN ahead.
SLEEP late. FORGET your problems.
DO what you want. LOOK for a party.
SHOP at the mall. TALK on the phone.
WATCH movies. GO to work.

"I like to hang out with my boyfriend and go out to eat with my friends."
Nina Franks

"I like to rest and catch up on my homework but I also like to hang out with friends and go to places such as the movies."
Lori Pickett

"I spend most of my weekends working at Lucky's but when I get free time I like to go out with my friends."
Jason Loyd

"I usually give baton lessons on the weekends and I like to rent movies and spend quality time with my boyfriend."
Leigh Lyle

"I like to spend time with my girlfriend or go exploring with my friends in the woods."
Jakob Layman

"On the weekends I enjoy shopping, when I have the money, and watching Alabama football games."
Sarah Gothard

"I like to play games with my friends and sleep."
Jeff Walker

"I like to go to the movies and have fun with my friends."

"Still Fly"

Two MHS students show off their everyday fashion sense for the camera... Peasant shirts and boots were common last year.

As you walked through the halls of Montevallo High School, many different styles were seen in the halls. Girls wore various shades of brown and long belts. Guys and girls also wore basic white tennis shoes to accompany the casual shirt and jeans. Girls were also seen wearing flip flops, even though they weren't supposed to. The classic hairdo was sleek and down; or for guys, braids and afros were commonly seen. Chains were also seen draped around the necks of guys. This past school year has been filled with many different ways of expressing style.

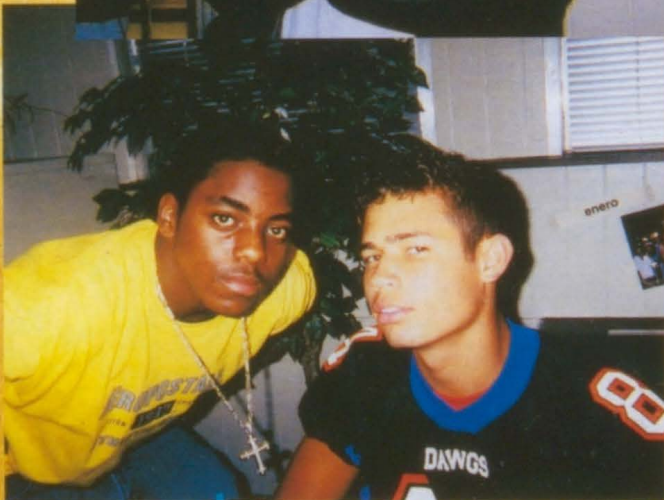

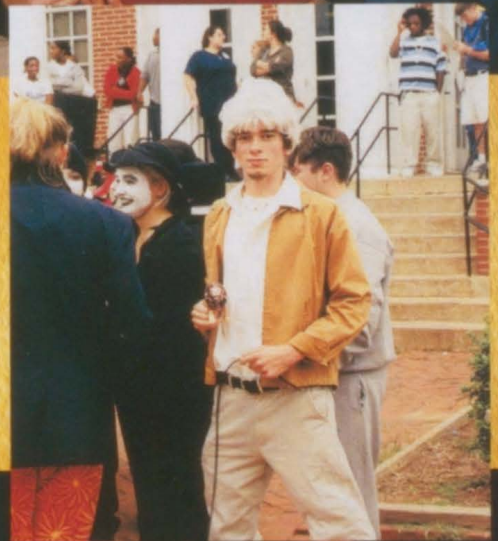

Throughout the year, girls could be seen wearing jeans and boots. Many students wore jeans that had slits up the sides and camel boots.

The student wearing these boots strikes a pose for the camera. Many different color boots and knee high boots were common this past school year.

Sophomore year was a more relaxed year.

Sophomores had many responsibilities, but not as many as Juniors and Seniors did.
Sophomores were definately glad to not be at the bottom anymore. Sophomores learned that along with privileges came more responsiblities. The class of 2005 were on their way to achieving success!

The Freshmen started their high school careers with much anticipation and trepidation. They became initiated into high school life through activities such as Big Brother/Big Sister and Homecoming. After a few weeks in their new environment the Freshmen felt right at home and began to make their presence known.

"Producers"

The faculty of Montevallo High School did a superior job last year. Every teacher did their best to ensure success for every student that entered their classrooms. However, the teachers did not do it all alone. The wonderful office staff, lunchroom staff, janitorial staff and counselor staff kept the school running smoothly all year. Each student, in his or her own right, had a great appreciation for the faculty. They surely produced an award winning year for all.

"Hit 'em High"

The varsity boys football team had a season full of highs and lows. They started out on a high winning their first game against Leeds. The season turned to a low point after that. Then it seemed as though the only way to go was up and the boys succeeded and won two games in a row blowing out Chilton Co. and beating Hayden for Homecoming 2002. The boys finished the year on a win against Midfield. Senior D.J. Barnes was an excellent example of the talent the boys had to show to be so successful. He was named Birmingham-Metro Football Player of the Week and showed leadership on and off the field along with the other seniors: Desmond Seay, Cheros Fortune, Corey Williams, Jason Loyd, Chris Wallace, Chris Tingle, Marcus Harris, and Brandon Brown.

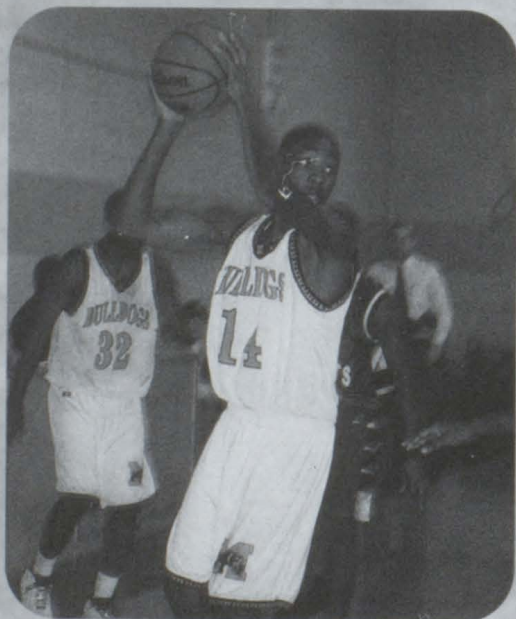

"Air Force Ones"

Throughout the year, the Varsity Boys Basketball players played like crazy! With only four returning players, the team had some obstacles to overcome. The new players learned the ropes quickly! Through the guidance of Coach Bobby "C.P." Pierson, Kenneth Dukes, and Maury Grayson, the Bulldogs overcame those obstacles. Coach Pierson always pushed his players to go the extra mile.

BASKETBALL

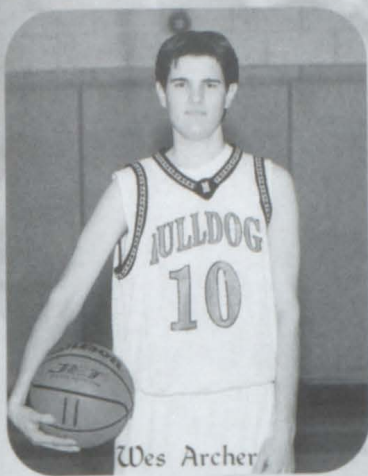

Junior Anthony Purnell blocks a pass from an opponent. Anthony had many blocks this season.

Junior O'Neal Hudson anticipates a pass to one of his teammates. Teamwork helped the team go a long way last season.

Junior Robert Horn shoots the ball to score two points for the Bulldogs. Robert had to jump very high over his opponent to complete this play.

"Just a Swingin'"

Last year's golf team worked hard to prepare for their season. Most members could be found every afternoon at Montevallo Golf Club working on their skills. The golf team's hard work culminated with strong showings at the county and sectional tournaments. Senior member Justin Eaton commented, "I have enjoyed this year the most of all seasons and have learned a lot through my experiences on the golf team during the last four years."

"Crossing the Bar"
By: Alfred Lord Tennyson

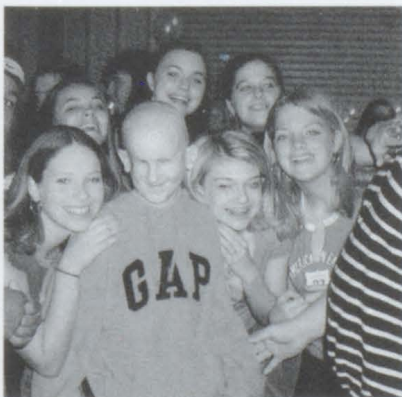

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea,

But such tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place

The flood may bear me far
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

"Bounce"

It was an eventful season for the Lady Dawgs. The girls worked hard preparing for the season and under new head coach Tena Niven they ended up having a good season. The Lady Dawgs started off in mid-October with practices every afternoon. During the Thanksgiving holiday they went to Mountain Brook High School Tournament. The Dawgs also traveled to Gulf Shores for the Christmas Invitational Tournament. We asked Senior Santana Smith to reflect on the season and this is what she said, "This was a great experience for me to be a leader and I really enjoyed working with my teammates."

Junior Shanteeka Reed smiles for the camera before an afternoon practice. The girls basketball team practiced everyday after school.

Sophomore Haley Dennis lines up her shot with the goal. This technique was used at all the games and practices.

"Put Me in Coach"

While under the leadership of new coaches, Ronnie Holsomback and Nan Franks, the softball team soared to new heights. The girl's softball team practiced hard to have a winning season. With practice starting in the cold and rainy days of February, the team was well prepared for their opponents. The girls practiced everyday after school for hours. Practices consisted of a tremendous amount of running, hitting, and catching to better prepare the team. With the leadership of the upperclass players, the younger players found the sport to be both competitive and fun. The girls' spirits were always held high with cheers, which left them screaming... "Put Me in Coach!"

Sophomore Amy Boyd catches a ground ball. Amy was determined to do her best at every game.

Sophomore DeeDee Ray runs back into the dugout after completing a play. It was here determination that led the team to many victories.

Senior Tekedra Staffney practices her throwing at softball practice. The coaches made sure the team was physically and mentally prepared for the season.

And A Word From the Players....

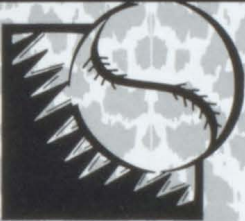

"I enjoyed playing softball this year. It was a great year to end my senior year." -Senior Brittney Farrington

"This was truly an exciting year. I really liked how we played as a team and our hard work really paid off" -Junior Ashley Lightfoot

"I had a great time playing softball this season! We had a great team." - Sophomore Katie Jones

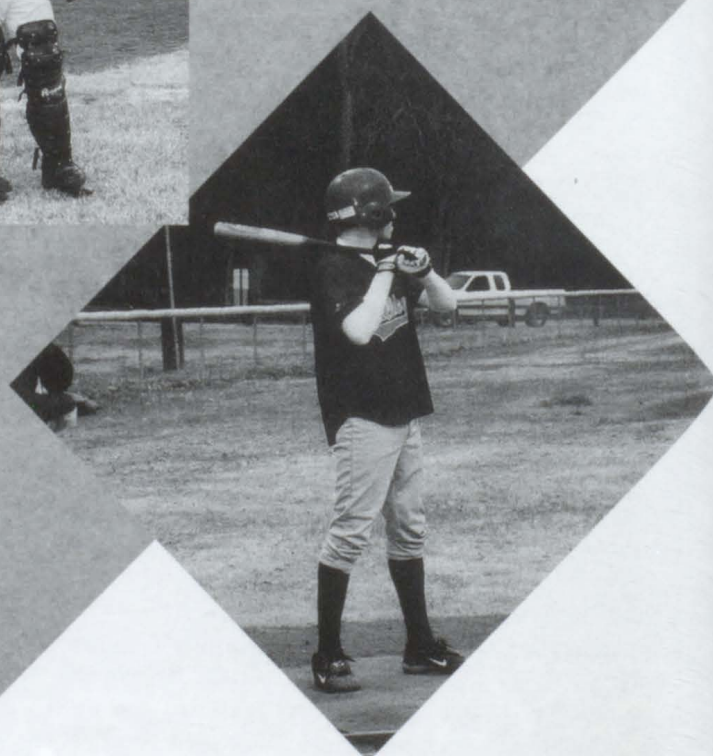

Senior Amy Pickett helps out Coach Holsomback at practice. It was his leadership that led the team to victory.

"Batter-Up!"

The baseball team had great leadership this year with the coaching of Kevin Raybon, John Fuller, Mark Allred, and Lamar McKnight. Their season was packed with practices and games. The players had the advantage of having a number of skilled seniors on the team to help out with their drills. Many of the younger boys looked to seniors to set examples for the team.

"Stroking"

Top to Bottom (L to R): Amber Paschel, Jillian Massie, Ellen Thomas, Rachel Watson, Coach Mary Beth Rodgers, Sara Roper, Leah Hickerson, and Kathy McLean

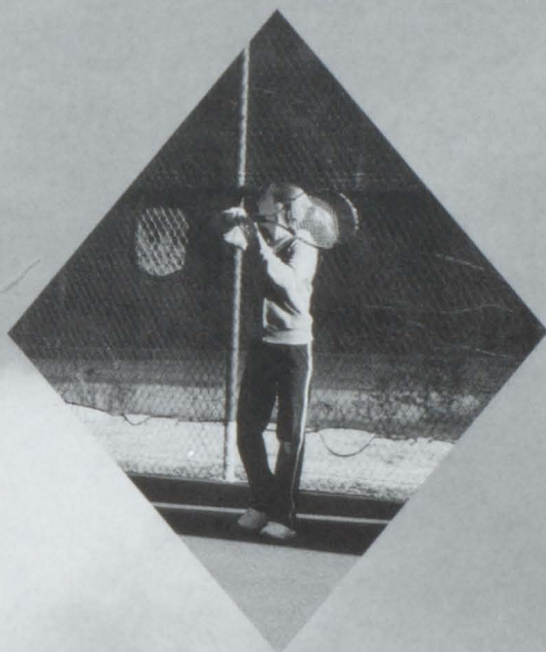

Last year's tennis team consisted of five new members and a new coach, Mary Beth Rodgers. The team practiced everyday after school from 3:15 to 5:00. They worked on forehands, backhands, serves, and running exercises to build their stamina. They also practiced on their singles and doubles matches. They started their season on March 4th and had 13 games on their schedule. They had a successful season led by Captain Rachel Watson.

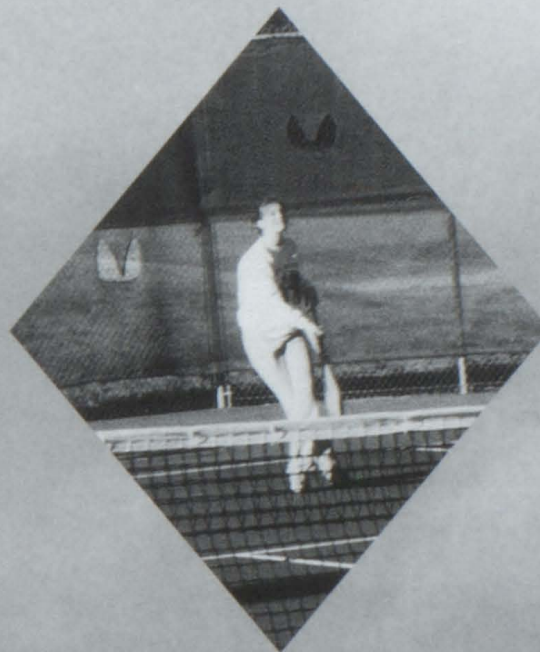

The girls stretch before practice. This was one of many exercises they did to do to get ready for a match.

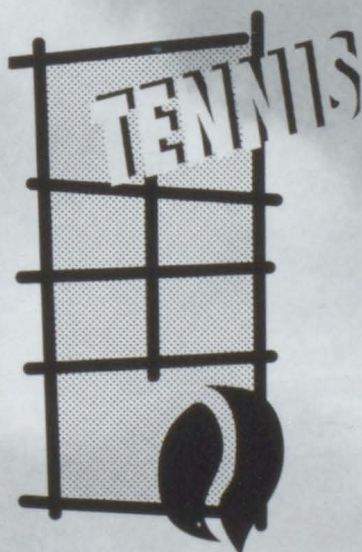

Ellen Thomas and Jillian Massie play a doubles match at practice.
Both girls had a great tennis season.

"Rhythm Divine"

The symphonic band kept their tradition of excellence alive. They performed two concerts, one for Christmas and one for Spring. Some of their selections included: "Christmas Fantasia", "Thirteen Days of Christmas", "Cajun Folk Song", and "Nessun Dorma". "I was very proud of all the bands accomplishments last year." said Band Director, Craig Bates. The band worked very hard to make last year unforgettable. For the graduating seniors, it was a year full of accomplishments.

Freshmen Gavin Bethea and Rob McGibboney look over their music. The percussionist were the back bone of the band.

The band smiles for a quick picture. The symphonic band were full of smiles because of the wonderful job they did.

The flutes play during band practice. They worked very hard last year to perfect their music as much as possible.

Freshman Danielle Lilly plays her clarinet. The clarinets perfected their music by practicing at home.

Freshman Brittany Guy practices for a concert. The French horns worked very hard on all of their music.

Mr. Bates directs one of the many pieces of music. He was very proud of the band last season.

The low brass practice for one of their concerts. They played a big role in the bands performances.

"We Will Rock You"

The Marching Troubadours were a great contribution to the football games last year. Their halftime show was a tribute to Hollywood movie themes. The seleltions included "Jurassic Park
Fantasy", "Theme from Indiana
Jones", "The Brady Bunch",
"Halloween", and "Jurassic Park".
The band also received superior ratings at their competitions and received the Mayor's Choice Award at Lake
Guntersville for the fourth year in a row. The band also contributed their time to pep rallies, as well as parades.

Drum Major Erin Aslin takes a break from directing the band to smile for the camera. Erin had a great first year as drum major.

The Troubadours admire trophies presented at competition. The band received superior ratings at all of their competitions.

Senior Ashley Santa Cruz performs during a Friday night football game. Ashley was one of the first Montevallo students taught by Band Director Craig Bates.

The combo wraps up the Troubadours' movie show with the theme from Rocky. This added a finishing touch to a fantastic show.

"Twist and Shout"

Last year the Dance Team worked hard for all of the recognition they received. Last year's squad worked even harder to top the previous squad. They received all superior ratings at band competitions and participated in Montevallo's annual Holiday Parade. With all of their work and dedication, they came out on top. "All of our hard work paid off, especially at football games when we were in the spotlight with all of the fans cheering for us", Junior Tiffany Piper said.

TRADITION
WITH a TWIST

The dance line is showing some great choreography. This is one of the assets that made them unique.

The spotlight is on Captain Ashley Brazzell as she performs during a half-time show. Completing a dance routine during this time was a goal everyone wished to accomplish.

Smiling faces are always shown at the end of a dance line performance. Smiling was one of the many things that set the dance line apart from other squads at MHS.

Members Samantha Green, Tiffany Piper, Ryan Gilbert, and Jeannie Ennis work hard during practice. All of their work paid off during games on Friday nights.

IN THE GROOVE

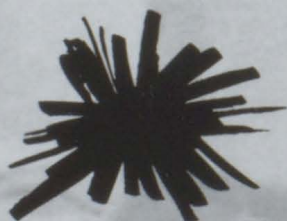

"True Colors"

Being a member of the Montevallo Color Guard was a great honor to all of those that participated last year. They worked hard and accomplished many of their goals. They received all superior ratings at most of the competitions they attended. It was an exciting year for all of them.

"Girls' Just Wanna Have Fun"

The majorettes had a very exciting year last year. They worked very hard at pep rallies and games. Although the group was mostly young, they received all superior ratings at competitions. Last years football season was an awesome opportunity for the majorettes to shine.

"Leader of the Pack"

The Student Council played a major leadership role in keeping Montevallo High School student activities in sync. They took responsibility in planning student body activities such as Homecoming Week festivities, the Big Brother/Big Sister relationships, and a blood drive in the Spring. Members participated in community service projects including preparing Thanksgiving baskets for needy families in the Montevallo area. A canned food drive during the Christmas holidays also helped to fill a needy shelter. By showing their determination and willingness, the Student Council insured that Montevallo High School will prosper and flourish for years to come.

In the chemistry lab at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, the MHS Polymer Research Team assisted scientists in experiments. Responsibilities included conducting experiments for a UAB Professor with unknown, multi-parted particles to see how they layered. "I felt like an explorer, because we were the first people to ever experiment with this silicon dendrimer compound," said Advisor Wally Blanton. At the BellSouth Building in Birmingham, the team members were divided into groups where they presented their findings to the Alliance for Science and Technology, a scientific community. Although a world changing result was not found, the students benefited from this experience by observing and participating in a research study at a world-renowned laboratory.

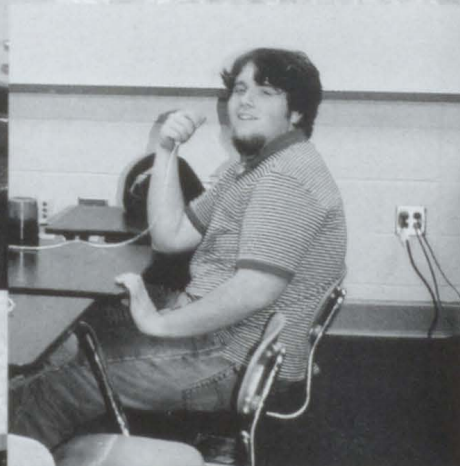

Lori Pickett presents her polymer project at the BellSouth Building. She worked very hard in creating her project.

Laura Kingsley and Jason Loyd present their polymer project at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. They dipped slides, gathered their research, and presented their findings.

"Get Smart"

Many students at MHS gave up their extra time last year to participate in academic clubs and teams. The Scholar's Bowl and Math Teams stayed late practicing for competitions and Mu Alpha Theta arrived early to plan their community service projects and discuss upcoming events. All of the clubs did well at their County Tournaments and made a big impact on the school.

"With Arms Wide Open"

The Key Club is a community service organization. They met the second Tuesday of every month to prepare for upcoming events. The Key Club members came together as a team. They read to the Elementary School children, went to the Children's Hospital, and did other community service as well.

"Hey Good Lookin' What'cha Got Cookin'"

The FCCLA worked hard last year learning how to become better hosts and hostesses for the future.

They learned kitchen skills, how to manage a household, how to cook, and how to care for children. Senior Santana Smith comments, "The FCCLA has taught me many valuable skills that I will be able to utilize in the future."

First Priority was a group where students could come and fellowship with their peers. It was held every Tuesday at 7:15 am in Mr. Blanton's class. This was a great way for many of the students to start their day off. "See You at the Pole" was one of the many events that these fellow Christians sponsored. It allowed students and teachers to pray together. First Priority helped the students to express thoughts in prayer among their classmates. It was also a great way to get encouragement from others.

"No More Drama"

Theater Arts worked very hard to entertain our school last year.

The Montevallo Moonlight Players performed three plays: The Night of the Livid Dad; Louder, I Can't Hear You; and A Typically Atypical Day. Senior AJ Leggett commented, "I have been in Theater Arts my four years of high school and this class out of all I looked forward to the most." The actors did several other plays along the year as well. Theater Arts did wonderful in performing their plays for our school.

Seniors A.J. Leggett and Mary Steno prepare for their first performance of the year. They were more experienced than the others.

Alicia Mickens, Chris Smith, and Brooke Harris pay attention to Mrs. Clayton during practice. This was important for the players to perform as well as they could.

Jeff Walker, Mary Stano, Rosie Magurie, and Shane Welch read their scripts on stage. It was vital that they learned their lines while they learned their stage directions.

Alicia Mickens, Chris Smith, Brooke Harris, Nick Massie, Rosie Magurie, Charlie Juarez, Jeff Walker, Constance Salter, and Robert Salter pose on stage while the director, Mrs. Clayton, makes sure it looks perfect. The Moonlight Players did this a lot to know where to stand on stage during so many scenes.

"Special Delivery"

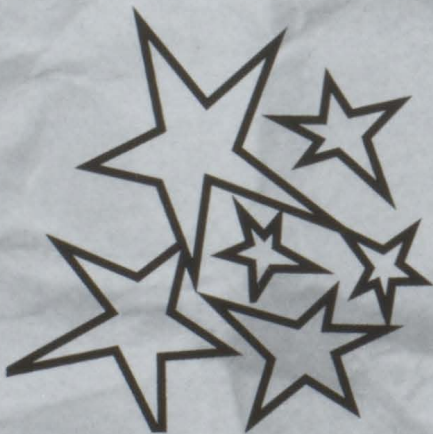

The MHS Spotlight staff did an exceptional job last year keeping us informed with what was going on in our school, and on current events around the country and the world. The Spotlight competed in numerous competitions and received many recognitions for their newspaper. "Working on Spotlight for the past four years has improved not only my ability to express ideas through writing, but also gave me a lot of great memories and friends," said Senior Ashley Santa Cruz.

Staff members Kathy Smitherman, Jennifer Bailey and Crystal Brantley go over some of the stories in their paper. Spotlight produced two newspapers a month for the school.

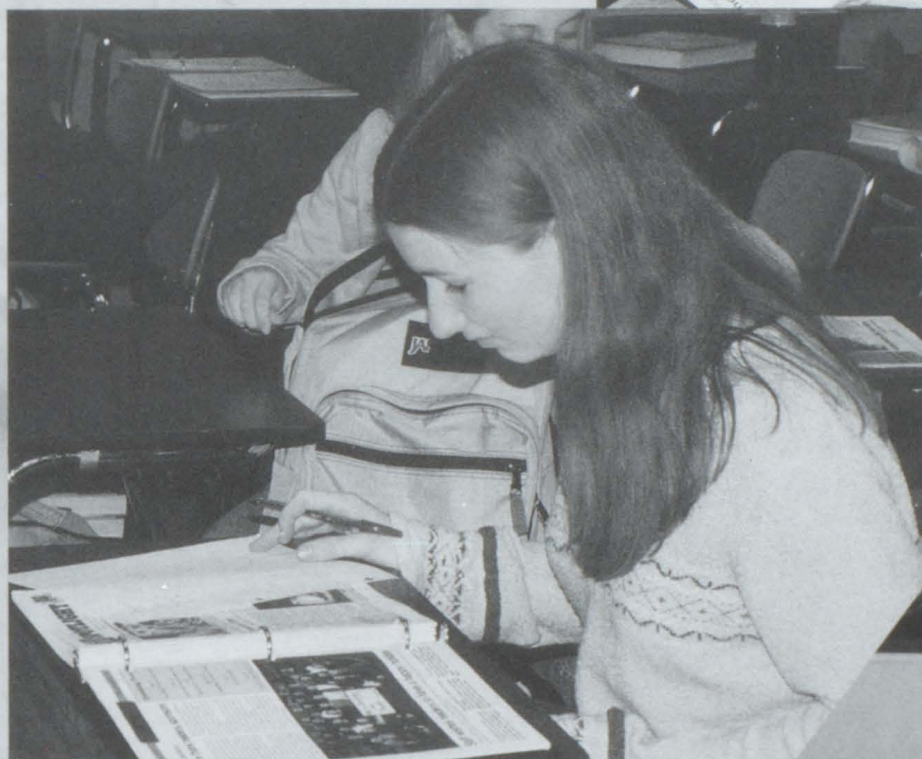

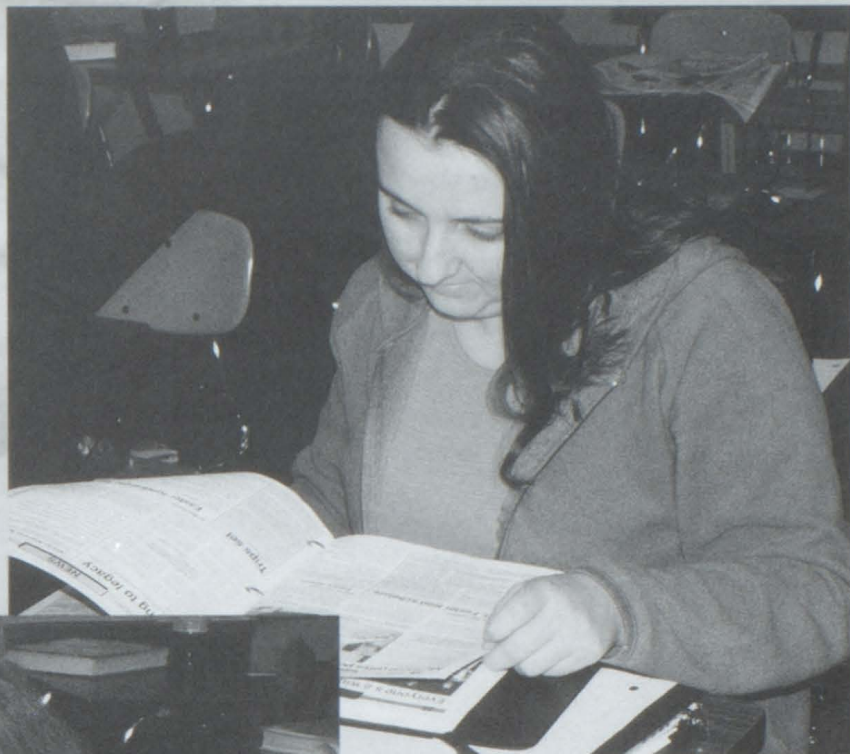

Seniors Ashley Santa Cruz and Lori Pickett revise their Spotlight during class. The staff worked exceptionally hard to produce the newspapers.

Junior Jennifer Bailey finishes reviewing her Spotlight during seventh period. Staff members spent time before, during, and after school to work on their newspaper.

Sophomore Crystal Brantley concentrates on one of her stories in the Spotlight. The staff kept us informed on the latest news.

Spotlight staff members revise some of their work on the computers. Their hard work paid off not only for their paper but for competitions also.

"Freeze Frame"

The Mass Communications class had a fun and exciting year last year. They held weekly broadcasts that informed students what was going on in school as well as what was going on outside of school. The Mass Communications class traveled to New York where they were judged on some of their work.

Brandon Broadhead prepares to tape a broadcast. The entire student body got the opportunity to see the broadcast every other Friday.

While working hard, Senior Adrian Jones takes time out to pose for a picture. Many students in Mass Comm worked in the control room.

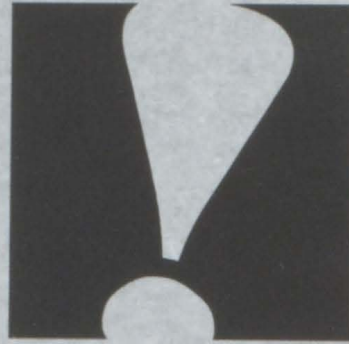

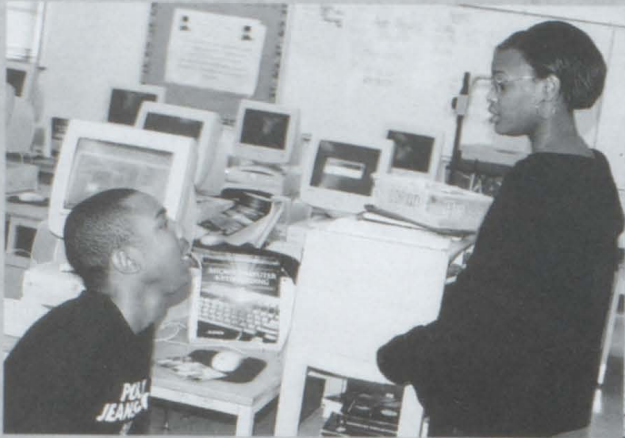

Jeremy Smitherman participated in Mass Comm this year by being a cameraman. Being in Mass Comm helped prepare students for future careers.

Justin Smitherman is working hard to adjust the audio. Perfecting the audio was an important part of the broadcast.

Last year the Montala Staff started off early organizing how and what the yearbook was to look like. They attended a yearbook camp at Spain Park High School and took a few days out of the summer to begin preparations for the new year. For Christmas, staff members decided to take a different approach. Instead of exchanging gifts with one another, staff members collected money and bought gifts to give to a local charity. During the last few months of school the Montala staff worked very hard to complete this yearbook.

Ad Division

After a hard day of work in the office, Senior Abbi Maddox takes a sip of her coke from Rally's. Students tried to eat anything besides lunchroom food whenever possible.

Everyone on the Montala Staff would like to thank everyone and every business that purchased an ad to place in the 2002-2003 yearbook. Without your generosity our yearbook would not be possible. Purchasing an ad was a great way to show business support of our high school.

Trust in the Lord with all you heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight.

(Proverbs 3: 5-6)

Congratulations and Best Wishes!

When your vision is clouded by circumstance... God sees clearly. When your understanding is shadowed by questions... God knows perfectly. When your way is shaded with uncertainty... remember God leads faithfully.

Congratulations

Diann Peavy

Diann,
As you have grown from the cute three year old girl to the beautiful 18 year old young-lady, always remember the things we've told you: hold your head up straight, keep true to yourself, say your prayers, and can't never could do anything. We are proud of you and the young lady you are. Keep pursuing your dreams.

Congratulations,
Mom, Dad, and Daniel

Adrienne Headley

We omitted him from the 01-02 Montana

Outro

This past year has been filled with new and exciting things. Most students spent their time studying and trying to be on time to class. Other students spent their time studying for the graduation exam. There were alot of things to keep the students and faculty busy: from going to basketball, football, volleyball, softball games to having faculty meetings. The students did all they could to make last year a memorable one.
